

Big Water Control Project Urged By Special FDR Group

WASHINGTON. (P)—A vast program for control and development of California's water resources was proposed to congress today by the President's water resources committee in a report which declared the future of the state "depends chiefly upon the supply of water that can be made regularly available for essential purposes."

Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. (SKINNY) SKIRVIN

Let's talk about water, but not so much of it. The latest storm left us 88 of an inch, and no damage. That's the kind I prefer. The weather man hung a sword over our head, but some intervening hand removed the blade and left the handle, so the central part of the coast took the punishment. The storm split a few hundred miles out on the Pacific. It's all right with me. That's the place where a little more water won't make any difference.

There are a lot of spots all over Southern California which will begin to smell natural next week. The racing season is over.

Southern California's storm occurred March 2. Copy of Toronto Globe of Thursday received by Alex Brownridge carried pictures of the flood, taken from airplanes, and wire photo. Both good and bad news traveled fast these days.

The breakfast club must look to its laurels. Notice where the Tri-Y Girls gave a waffle breakfast beginning at 7:30 and continuing until 1 o'clock.

Responding to my shamrock appeal, S. Ledru Baker, jr., brings in on behalf of himself and S. Ledru Baker, sr., and the Mrs. senior, a beautiful and generous bunch of the symbol of Ireland, supposedly adopted by St. Patrick as illustrating the doctrine of the Trinity. You will see more on the 17th of March. The shamrock is a perennial plant, a variety of clover, with three heart shaped leaflets. If you can get one with four you might be lucky enough to win the Irish sweepstakes. I am fortunate to get the shamrock, and may I thank the Baker family for "this little bit of heaven" which fell on my desk a few days before the celebration of the birthday of the patron saint.

Don't worry. You'll be impatient for water next summer, and paying for it.

If the stock market gets as wild as the Santa Ana river they would be able to fraternize. Sort of an ebb and flow proposition.

John (Mac) McLain, food store manager, is in favor of mob scenes if they have any business significance, and he says they "do."

If your dream boat isn't in by this time there is something wrong with your river schedule.

Rivers get angry, just like people, and there isn't any more use appealing to the League of Nations than for Ethiopia or Austria.

Literally, a lot of water has gone over the dam and a lot of other places during the past few weeks.

General John Pershing, whom the doctors gave up several weeks ago, refused to give up. So he's getting well. As long as there is life there is a fighting chance. The general, it would be fair to conclude, preferred to fight.

The fellow who lost everything he had in the flood has cancelled his application for membership in "The Laugh It Off Club."

When a man dies leaving a sizable estate, widows—not widows—appear to claim the estate.

Well, my last chance to recoup what losses I had at Santa Anita passed last Saturday, and I come out even for the very good reason that I hadn't lost anything. However, I am guilty of complicity in sending a friend who came back with less than he went with.

Included in the report were proposals for flood control works in the Southern California coastal region alone which would cost an estimated $69,500,000. It was urged these projects be undertaken and pushed to completion during the next six years.

In addition to taking recognition of the flood damage faced by Southern California, recently emphasized so clearly, the report asserted that California's "critical need" was for control and redistribution of its water supply for domestic and industrial uses and for irrigation.

WATER SUPPLY

The committee said that in the future, as now, "the extent of agriculture will be limited by the supply of water for irrigation."

"The future of the cities will be influenced greatly by the water that can be made available for them," declared the report. "When compared with the need for greater supplies of available water, all other water problems are of secondary importance."

"Even the flood control problem, although urgent in places, is less important than the requirement for water for irrigation."

STRIKE HITS L. A. HARBOR

LOS ANGELES. (P)—A labor dispute tied up loading and unloading of 26 sea-going vessels in Los Angeles harbor today.

The Waterfront Employers' association, carrying out an ultimatum delivered several days ago to the International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's union, declined to order the harbor's 2600 longshoremen to work at 7 a. m.

The dispute between the employers and longshoremen grew out of the refusal of the ILWU to unload freight cars on the ground this work should be done by members of the Carloaders' union.

The Carloaders' union picketed longshoremen last Tuesday while they were unloading a freight car at the American-Hawaiian dock. The longshoremen called a meeting and decided the labor issue had been decided a year ago by Judge M. C. Sloss, who had acted as arbitrator in a waterfront dispute. They refused to arbitrate and announced they were ready to negotiate a new contract if the em-

TEACHER FOUND 'NOT GUILTY'

James L. Stevenson, young high school shop teacher, was found not guilty today of an assault against Floyd Kohler, 19-year-old junior student, branded as a trouble-maker.

Justice Kenneth Morrison acquitted Stevenson of the charge, brought by the boy after a scuffle in the shop Jan. 28 when Kohler allegedly used profanity and was reluctant to obey the teacher's orders to get out.

Stevenson admitted striking the youth with a hammer handle, but said it was only after young Kohler used profane names and attempted to strike him.

Willis M. Clayton and Robert Farrar of the faculty both said Kohler had been removed from Stevenson's class, and had threatened to "fix that teacher."

Arnold Gets Job Approval

WASHINGTON. (P)—The senate judiciary committee approved today the nomination of Thurman Arnold, Yale law professor, as assistant attorney general.

Arnold was named to succeed Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general who was appointed solicitor general. The committee, meeting in executive session, took no record vote on Arnold's nomination.

RED CROSS NOW FACES REAL WORK

Emergency Is Over; Hard Task Remains

"The real job of the Red Cross is just beginning."

That was the statement of A. L. Schafer, directing flood relief in the five stricken counties of Southern California, as local agencies joined in issuing an appeal for more and immediate contributions.

"The emergency period of feeding, sheltering and clothing refugees has passed," Schafer said, "but the longer, harder task of rebuilding homes, repairing damaged houses and barns, replacing ruined furniture and restocking farm animals still is before us."

"Our forty trained disaster workers are in the field, the survey of damage is almost complete, the registration of needy home owners is progressing rapidly and soon the building program will be under way."

Treasurer T. E. Stephenson of the disaster relief committee issued a statement today in which he appealed to Santa Ana and the rest of the county to send in their Red Cross donations without further delay.

"A large number of persons," he said, "who have made up their minds to give to the Red Cross have not turned in their contributions. It seems to me the reason for this delay is that they are expecting someone to come around to them on a drive. This committee has not organized a canvass. It has seemed to members that the situation is so plain we could depend on individual responsibility."

FLOOD ANGLE IN CONTROL

Situation under control—not further damage.

Menacing flood waters which endangered the county over the week-end subsided, and engineers continued work of rehabilitation. Heavy runoff of water, driven by storms in the upper counties and mountains, periled the county once again early Sunday morning. Hastily constructed levees held, except near the ocean, where a two-foot flood crest broke through, again flooding low lying farm lands.

Sheriff's deputies stood by at all danger points throughout the night.

The river was held within its course at Anaheim and Fullerton, where heaviest damage was inflicted a week ago by collapsing levees, Sheriff Jackson reported.

An area stretching from below Taibart to the ocean was inundated, but farm residents, mostly Japanese, had already left the area.

LOOTS GROCERY; LEAVES LADDER

Police today were looking for a big-time burglar who gave the Washington Market, 1303 North Main street, the worst of a trade early Saturday.

The burglar made off with $150 worth of groceries, and all he left in payment was a 16-foot ladder.

He used the ladder to gain entrance to the store via a skylight. Loot included 50 cartons of cigarettes, 15 boxes of chewing gum, three baskets full of canned goods and $2.50 in cash.

The burglary apparently occurred between 4 and 5 a. m. Saturday.

HUGH WILSON

WASHINGTON. (P)—American diplomatic relations with Austria will undergo a fundamental change, informed observers said today, as a result of Austria's union with Germany.

Diplomatic matters concerning Austria would be placed in charge of Hugh Wilson, ambassador to Germany, who formerly was assistant secretary of state.

The state department was keeping an attitude of non-interference toward Germany's occupation of Austria. Officials pointed out that the British, German and French ambassadors who visited Secretary Hull Saturday with regard to Austria's collapse did so of their own initiative.

Observers said the changing of the American legation to a consulate would not involve the United States in any question of Hitler's right to take over Austria.

It would be merely a recognition of a fact—that Austria had become a part of Germany and no longer had a foreign policy of its own.

Plea Made to Hold Money in West Area

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—Western investment funds, instead of going east, should remain in western industries, in the opinion of Chester T. Lane, assistant general counsel of the federal securities and exchange commission.

Lane, addressing a California group of the Investment Bankers' association here, said the commission was encouraging regional security exchanges. He urged the bankers "to take the lead in restoring to the country the balanced regional economy" he said was advocated by the commission.

Czechs Assume Pivotal Point

LONDON. (P)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today plainly warned Germany that Britain would expand her vast armament program to match force with force in answer to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's absorption of Austria. However, the prime minister, in a vital statement of policy before a House of Commons packed and tense, did not promise British backing to France if she should go to war to save Czechoslovakia from pan-Germanism.

Chamberlain said Czechoslovakia had been in consultation with Britain but he refused to discuss what Britain would do to guard the central European republic for whose 3,500,000 sudeten Germans Hitler had proclaimed himself protector.

Chamberlain bluntly rejected a German statement that Britain had no right to interest herself in Austrian independence, the German answer to British protests over the annexation.

Chamberlain insisted Britain "must always be interested in developments in central Europe."

HITLER DARES ALL EUROPE

Dictator Gets Wild Vienna Greeting

VIENNA. (P)—Adolf Hitler came in triumph to Vienna today and to a frenzied throng that greeted him declared: "No force on earth can shake us!"

Fully a million shouting, flag waving Viennese greeted the fuhrer as he rode into the capital of the German state he has absorbed into his expanded German reich.

To more than 100,000 hysterical followers thronging the square before his hotel, he shouted:

GERMANY SUPREME

"The German Reich as it stands today is inviolable; no one can shatter it!"

Hitler apparently has not intended to speak until tomorrow, when at 11 a. m. he will address Vienna and the German worlds from the heroes' square.

But the crowd that called him again and again to the balcony of his hotel suite would not be denied.

"German compatriots," he began his impromptu speech, "I have felt in the last few days all the emotions which now stir you."

"This has been an historical change and the entire German people feel your emotions."

HITLER STIRRED

"Not two million people in one city, but 75 million people in one nation are stirred to the depths of feeling which you now are demonstrating."

40 FARMERS IN CONFAB

Forty Orange county farm leaders participated this morning and afternoon in the second annual Agricultural Economics conference, in which four central problems facing ranchers in this region were discussed. The meeting was held at Daniger's cafe under the direction of the University of California extension service with a half dozen cooperating groups participating.

H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, was chairman in charge of the general discussion.

The questions brought up were: Water resources and flood control with John Murdy in charge of this part of the conference; farm management and labor, discussion led by R. W. Hull of Orange; land use and soils in which S. W. McCulloch of Placentia took a leading part, and farm outlooks, marketing and credits led by K. W. Crill of Garden Grove.

Participating groups included: Marketing associations, water groups, the county farm bureau, county Grange, credit groups and soil conservation service.

Motorist Finds Way to Evade Service Ritual

Super-service was non-essential to an unidentified Santa Ana motorist Saturday night. All he wanted was gasoline.

So it didn't matter to him that Van Pomeroy's service station at 1402 South Main street was closed for the night. He pried a cast iron door from a gasoline pump, used a hand pump and took 15 gallons of gasoline.

He still owes the station $2.50, however.

Locker Looted While Man Bathes

Theft of $60 in cash and a $149 watch, was reported by F. E. Farnsworth, real estate broker living at 2219 North Broadway, yesterday.

The theft occurred when someone broke into a locker at the Santa Ana Country club while Farnsworth was taking a shower.

Westover Brands Drill Measure "Major Oil Steal"

Control of the Huntington Beach tideland oil pool will pass into the hands of a three-man commission on June 12. That Governor Merriam would sign the bill passed at his special session of the legislature was accepted as a foregone conclusion today by capitol observers. A second conclusion advanced by State Senator Harry Westover of Santa Ana was that the bill is a "direct steal by the major oil interests."

QUEST FOR ROBBER ENDS IN JAIL CELL

Suspect Found Already Serving Time

Acting on an anonymous telephone "tip," three deputy sheriffs today cleared a kidnap-robbery case that had baffled officers throughout Orange county for more than three weeks. They simply went across the hall and filed new charges of kidnaping, robbery and grand theft on Lawson O. Gist, 28, Anaheim, already serving time in the county jail on a drunk charge.

James K. Givans, 1121 South Birch street, identified Gist as the man who poked a gun in his ribs and ordered him to "start driving" at Eleven... and Main streets in Santa Ana last Feb. 25, according to Merle Dean, chief criminal deputy.

Officers obtained positive identifications from two other witnesses to the holdup before filing the three new felony charges today.

Gist was booked on a drunk charge during the flood March 4, and it was not until last Friday night that Dean and Deputy Sheriffs G. F. McKelvey and James Musick started investigating his record after an anonymous voice suggested over the 'phone he might be wanted on the other charge.

Gist denied implication in the holdup.

THUGS SLUG CAFE OWNER

Slugged over the head by a revolver as he sat in his home, Charles Brown, proprietor of the Star cafe in Buena Park, was the victim of a $235 holdup early yesterday.

He had closed the cafe and was in his home behind the restaurant when two men slipped in through the unlocked door, struck him "three or four times" and commanded him to keep his head down. "Or we'll blow it off," they said.

The men, one of whom was described as six feet tall, weighing 165 pounds and about 32 years of age, rifled drawers in Brown's bedroom, then took his wallet. Loot included $175 in cash in the wallet, $25 in a drawer and a rifle, revolver and shotgun taken from the bedroom.

The cafe proprietor told the sheriff's office he did not see the second holdup man.

The holdup occurred at 2:35 a. m. and radio cars spotted along the river levee checking flood possibilities sped to Buena Park in a futile attempt to head off the bandits.

MILK'S RETAIL PRICE WAITED

Retail milk prices in Orange county will be set shortly after April 1.

Director of Agriculture A. A. Brock will conduct hearings here at that time, at which consumer and retailer prices will be determined. Recent hearing resulted in a decrease of 3 cents in the wholesale producer price.

C. H. Christie, secretary-manager of the Orange County Dairy-men's association, said dairymen and others interested will be allowed to give testimony at the hearing. Price-setting will be entirely at the discretion of Brock.

Cigarette Starts $70 Fire in Hotel

Fire apparently started by a cigarette thrown into a waste-basket caused damage estimated at $70 in the De Luxe hotel, 206 1/2 West First street, early yesterday morning.

A mattress in a room occupied by Mrs. C. Knight was burned before firemen arrived. Mrs. E. N. Wilson is owner of the hotel.

CIVIC UNREST SEETHING

Considerable civic unrest and intense political campaigns were predicted for 12 of Orange county's municipalities today as officials checked petitions for city council filed up to the deadline at noon Saturday. Elections will be held April 12. Featuring the deadline closing was refusal of Mayor George L. Fuller to run for re-election. Intense battles for council seats are predicted in Seal Beach and Laguna Beach, where 10 candidates have filed.

Human needs for flood sufferers can be alleviated if you place your contributions with the Red Cross, an organization created for that purpose. Funds will be judiciously expended and without duplications. There is great need for help. And all deserving persons should not let pride stand in the way of their necessities. The vicissitudes of this life reach into the ranks of the rich and the poor, and there is no telling when misfortune may knock at your door. That's why the Red Cross was organized.

When I read about some of the senators being deadlocked, I know it isn't a verbal impasse.

Some people were waiting last Saturday for the flood to come in, and others were waiting for their favorite horse to come in.

Newspapers are cuffed and cussed for printing news objectionable to individuals, but never given credit for compassion and sympathetic suppression, where the policy is not against journalistic procedure, but purely in the interest of the involved persons. The particulars of such cases are known to but few. Many incidents come day after day to publishers where the question of humiliation, and often disgrace, must be taken into consideration. There is more mercy bestowed in the publication of a newspaper than the public knows, or could be expected to know of the particular incident. The bad news appearing in newspapers is not created by the newspapers. Remember that. But the concessions to character and consideration for families and individuals remains within the editorial cloister.

WATER CONTROL PROJECT PLAN

ment for more water to augment or replenish the surface and underground supplies for irrigation and to provide adequate domestic and industrial supplies for the urban populations.

Constructive water planning in California, said the committee, should be based on the existing state water plan, developed in 1931. SURVEY URGED

The committee suggested that the Central valley and Boulder dam projects be included in a nationwide survey of engineering and economic aspects of production, transmission and marketing of power.

The proposed flood control projects include:

Basin-wide—Protection from floods in headwaters of watersheds, prevention of siltation of reservoirs by means of debris dams and debris within the national forest, $200,000.

Orange county—Construction of reservoirs and related flood control projects for protection of metropolitan areas, $2,000,000 (balance to complete, $10,700,000).

Riverside county—Coldwater canyon, levees, dikes for flood control, $18,000.

CORONA WORK

Corona, Riverside county—Eagle, Main, Lord, Hagador, Tin Mine, Conen and Mabey canyons, storm drains, debris basins and channel protection, $3,000 ($150,000 balance needed to complete).

Near Simi, Ventura county—Reinforced concrete dam for desilting basin in barranca in Ranchi Simi, and six flood control earth-fill check dams with concrete pipe outlet to conserve flood run-off, $10,000 ($20,000 needed to complete).

Los Angeles county—Los Angeles river, San Gabriel river, Rio Hondo, Ballona creek and their tributaries, construction of reservoirs and principal flood channels, no estimate for next year, but $55,000,000 needed to complete.

Riverside county—San Timoteo canyon, dams, barriers and dikes to prevent erosion of watershed, $25,000 ($125,000 to complete).

POMONA PROJECT

Pomona, Los Angeles county—San Antonio wash project No. 53; Base Line road to Philadelphia street, in Pomona, levees and cut-off wall, $600,000.

San Bernardino county—San Antonio, Cucamonga, Deer, Day, Lytle, Devils, Waterman, East Twin, Little Sand, Sand, City, Mill, Wilson and Warm creeks and numerous minor creeks in same area, spreading works, flood channels, storm drains, detention basin, etc., to conserve water by spreading and to protect cities from floods, $400,000.

The committee's full view of the California picture convinced it, the report stated, that the outlook for the state "depends chiefly upon the supply of water that can be made regularly available for essential purposes."

Five of a Kind Best Suit Now For Poker Friends

CINCINNATI. (AP)—Deal a round just for practice boys, the poker rules are being changed.

The royal flush, until now the hand that topped all others in a penny-ante game, is second best with the new five-suit deck. The "five of a kind" is the best hand.

Officials of a playing card company here announced today that all card making concerns placed the new decks on the market this week.

The poker hands, officials explained, will rank thus: Five of a kind, straight flush, four of a kind, flush, full house, straight, three of a kind, two pairs and one pair. The extra suit in the 65 cards is the "eagle."

head of Germany's new secret council, had written "The British government is not within its right in claiming the role of protector of Austria."

SHARP REPLY

The careworn prime minister disclosed for the first time that Germany had replied sharply to "grave" British protests over Reichsfuehrer Hitler's absorption of Austria.

The reply had come from Von Neurath. His letter said "The British government is not within its right in claiming the role of protector of Austria."

Chamberlain commented: "His majesty's government is and must always be interested in developments in Central Europe."

Diplomatic galleries were jammed for the historic session. Chamberlain's pronouncements accompanied the developing probability that a triple alliance of Britain, France and Czechoslovakia would be drawn up to curb Germanism in Central Europe.

His supporters cheered him loudly when he arrived from Buckingham palace after luncheon with the King.

One Laborite, however, heckled him with: "What are the cheers for?—It's a great disaster."

DEFENSE PROGRAM

Chamberlain said "the defense program will be reviewed in the light of the new circumstances"—a virtual announcement that the nation's $7,500,000,000 rearmament drive would be expanded even further.

"These events cannot be regarded by his majesty's government with indifference," the premier said, referring to Hitler's swift, bloodless coup in Austria.

"They are bound to have effects which cannot yet be measured. We have always made it clear that our defense programs were flexible and that they would be reviewed at any time in the light of any development in the international situation."

IL DUCE GIVES HITLER FRIENDSHIP PROMISE

ROME. (AP)—Premier Mussolini today gave Reichsfuehrer Hitler his personal reassurance of Italian friendship.

In a telegram to Hitler at Vienna, Il Duce declared "my attitude" is determined by the friendship between our two countries consecrated in the (Rome-Berlin) axis."

MOSCOW BELIEVES WAR MADE MORE POSSIBLE

MOSCOW. (AP)—The official Communist party newspaper Pravda expressed the opinion today that Nazi Germany's absorption of Austria sharply increased the danger of war in Europe because Czechoslovakia is the "next likely victim."

The newspaper, in the first Soviet comment on the Austrian coup, accused the German press of publishing "provocative articles which may be the pretext for a raid on Czechoslovakia."

EMPEROR'S SECRETARY SHOT, NEAR DEATH

VIENNA. (AP)—Eugen von Werkmann, Emperor Karl's last secretary, a prominent leader of the now liquidated monarchist movement, was reported today to be dying of bullet wounds.

The baron had been confined in monarchist headquarters under heavy guard since Friday.

When S. S. (Blackshirt) Nazi troops called this morning to take him to their headquarters for questioning, an S. S. source said, Baron von Werkmann drew a pistol and threatened his captors. "I shot myself," he said.

The baron's last article in a monarchist weekly pleaded "We want to live our own lives," expressed loyalty to the new despotic chancellor, Kurt Schuschnigg and outlined the monarchists' uphill fight for placing Archduke Otto, eldest son of the dead Emperor Karl, on the Austrian throne.

That hope is now gone. Properties belonging to the Hapsburgs, recently returned to them by the Schuschnigg government, are expected to be reconfiscated for use by Hitler youth as homes and training camps.

MOONEY DEFEAT HIGHLIGHTS STATE SESSION

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Weary California legislators were homebound today after working 16 hours overtime to complete a legislative program outlined for the brief special session which convened a week ago.

Highlighting the events of the week was an almost unanimous vote by the senate Saturday which killed an assembly resolution asking a legislative pardon for Tom Mooney, convicted for the San Francisco 1916 Preparedness Day bombing in which 10 persons died and more than 40 were injured.

The clocks were stopped at noon Saturday and the legislators, weary by debates and long hours, worked on into the morning, finally completing their task at 4 a. m. Sunday.

Outstanding legislation of the short session included appropriation of $16,900,000 for various types of relief; passage of four housing bills to enable California and its subdivisions to participate in the federal slum clearance and low cost housing program; passage of an amended form of the general oil and minerals leasing bill submitted for consideration by Gov. Frank P. Merriam, and passage of a $6,000,000 appropriation, $5,000,000 of which will go for rehabilitation of flood damage to public property.

Dr. J. E. Ruley and Kellar Watson, jr., failed to file for re-election. Their seats on the city board will be filled from the ranks of William F. Batt, former cordage company official; J. A. Green, engaged in the mercantile business; Henry Pitcher, real estate broker, and Hollis Showalter, packinghouse official.

Two empty seats on the Fullerton council brought out W. L. Hale, former mayor who was defeated at the last election; Ole Cole, service station operator; W. C. Bowen, feed store proprietor, and C. J. Wilkins.

Newport Beach was looking forward to a hard campaign today, with two candidates opposing Councilmen L. J. Clark and James Brown. Dr. H. W. Seager of Balboa Island, secretary of the planning commission and retired physician and surgeon, and Herman Childs filed papers with City Clerk Frank Rinehart.

In Laguna eight candidates, one a woman, are opposing Mayor L. F. Malloy, Thomas Cummings and H. G. Heiser, all asking re-election. Filing for the vote were Helen Carter Tiffany, Everett P. Tawney, William James English, Alvin M. Russell, E. J. Denson, Emil F. Wickman and H. K. Peabody. City Treasurer Edward Hind has filed for re-election for a short (two-year) term.

In area four incumbents and John E. Pate, Union Oil company employee, have filed. Mayor W. J. Shaffer, Frank Schweitzer, O. S. Close and Ed Ward are seeking re-election.

Two incumbents have filed for re-election in La Habra, and will be opposed by two other candidates. Councilmen J. T. Frazier and J. E. Tracy will be opposed by Bennett Clark, water company official and Frank Newman. City Clerk A. C. Earley will be opposed by Mrs. Ruby Hungerford for that position, while Treasurer L. E. Broad is unopposed.

In Placentia Mayor Charles Young and Councilmen L. V. Steen and Falter McKeehan are seeking re-election, opposed by Frank X. Burns and Ed Bassonett.

Tustin will enjoy its usual quiet and dignified election, with three members of the council and the city clerk unopposed. Edmond L. Kiser, Charles F. Logan and J. L. Wilson will have no opposition for council seats, while no one came forward to seek the short-term position of City Clerk D. T. Hayden.

In Seal Beach three councilmen seek re-election, opposed by seven others, three are seeking the city treasurer's job and residents will vote on a $101,000 bond issue for a new municipal pier. HUGE U. S. FLEET OPENS ANNUAL WAR GAMES

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Changes in announced plans of the commander-in-chief of the United States fleet found the bulk of the 105 warships lingering at San Diego and San Pedro bases today.

Under rigid war-time secrecy the ships were under sealed orders today. Some had slipped silently to sea. Others were ready for instant departure.

The 1938 highly confidential war games of America's seapower are under way. From far off Attu, at the nail of that finger of islands at the Bering sea pointing to Asia, the Aleutians, all the way around and down the coast to the Panama canal, navy men on ships, in planes and at shore radio stations were on war duty.

Far down in the South seas, at Tahiti, the heavy cruiser Louisville was ready to dash northward, to join the fray. Over in Asiatic waters somewhere were the light cruisers Trenton, Minneapolis and Memphis, under sealed orders to dash eastward to battle positions.

Admiral Claude C. Bloch, commander-in-chief of the U. S. fleet, with his staff officers aboard the dreadnaught Pennsylvania, watched the beginning of the six weeks test which will show him whether the 58,600 officers and men are ready to meet any emergency.

MOTORIST CUTS WAY THROUGH CAR TO ESCAPE DEATH

CANYON DROP ALMOST FATAL TO HOARY, 47

Nine Injured When Week-End Toll Taken

Though his car was nearly swept away by the swiftly flowing Santa Ana river, John Hoary, 47, Desert Center, miraculously escaped death Saturday night by cutting his way through the top of the car after it had plunged over an embankment and into the swirling current.

Life In These U. S.

Anybody Want a Job?
One With No Food, Lots of Work

FRANKNESS PERSONIFIED

RICE LAKE, Wis.—A Rice Lake attorney who needs a maid-of-all-work in his home doesn't believe in one taking the job without pre-meditation. He ran the following newspaper advertisement:

Wanted: A maid for general housework: Seven children, lots of noise, nothing to eat; husband, an alderman, another business on the side, late at lunch as often as six times a week; position of one wishing to gain experience as a manager of private restaurant or small hotel, or possibly a day nursery. If still interested, call 4482.

NO GOLF

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.—It might have happened:

"Dear teacher—Johnny got a 'C' in golf this month. Is he missing his putts again?"

But it won't happen, because the county council ruled against the plea of a group of high school students that golf be substituted for physical education.

THE LAMB WAS SURE TO GO

WAWKON, Iowa.—The lamb that followed Mary to school had nothing on a herd of 18 sheep here. They've been to court.

The bleating animals were herded into the Allamakee county courthouse and paraded before the jury as evidence in a court case in which their ownership was at stake.

Farmers of Riverside county have asked the university to try to develop a rust resistant strain of oats.

when his car and one driven by Emeline Morton, 45, Laguna Beach, crashed on the old Santa Ana road near Wilson street, north of Costa Mesa, early today.

YOUNGSTERS IN CRASH

Two youthful Santa Anans were slightly injured in the city's most serious week-end accident. They are Barbara Landsay, 17, 609 Garfield street, and Paul Bradford, 18, 1234 Cypress street, passengers in a car driven by Bob Wray, 20, 514-A East First street, Costa Mesa, early today.

Rowe's car and one driven by Howard Ryan, 1134 South Garnsey street, collided at Cubbon and Orange streets at 12:43 a. m. yesterday.

FLOOD VICTIM WASHED ASHORE IS IDENTIFIED

Tentatively identified as that of Lem Stewart, about 28, New York city, a badly discolored body washed ashore at Huntington Beach today.

The body evidently was that of a flood victim and gave evidence of having been in the water about 10 days. Stewart's name was listed on an identification card found in the drowned man's pocket, and his name also was listed as one of those lost when a bridge collapsed at Long Beach during the flood.

The identification card gave the name Fred Stewart, Shelton hotel, New York city, as the one to contact in case of accident, and Deputy Sheriff R. R. Lutes, attempting to complete the identification, wired this address this morning. An answer directed him to contact Ed Roberts, Hotel Rector, Hollywood, but he had received no response from this address by noon today.

GAINES

Dern! Here's another Monday. And if there's anything I don't like, it's Mondays.

Now Sundays—that's different. First, you can sleep late, unless Joseph the Dog jumps on the bed, or the cats yowl, or something like that. 'N then later you can fly kites, which is fun, and which I did yesterday.

Kite flying is 'most as much fun as fishing. You're more sure of catching something, too.

Sorta strongwind whistled yesterday ruined nearly all the kites in the neighborhood, so me'n Mike the Younger manufactured one, and darned if it didn't fly, which is near a record.

Then, after winding in string on a stick for what seemed hours, to call on my friend across-the-street neighbor, Chris Aaby. Following a scientific discussion with Chris, we evolved a huge crank affair which pulled kites from the clouds much in the fashion of an elevator.

Fun, huh? Chris furnished most of the equipment, too!

And then to work Sunday evening. Not so much fun.

And a wreck on the way to work. Newport Boulevard. Woman, man, dog in car, plus tree which wouldn't yield right-of-way. Messy.

Highlight was attempts of woman to take dog with her in ambulance. Poor animal, much bewildered, didn't rust ambulancess and the fast wagon had to wait many minutes while she convinced Fido the pretty car wasn't so bad after all.

Delayed issue of the Neighborhood News from Costa Mesa finally arrives. It was late, probably due to the floods.

Bud Attridge, editor, went sensational in this issue. He has a big banner line, "Santa Ana River Breaks Through Levees." Then he has a very good flood story. Even to issue of "rifuges".

Bud scaled the heights of poetic presentation in his paper this time, too. In an ungrammatical but nevertheless earnest warning to his public he warns, under the heading "Safety First".

Safety first, safety last. Hold your breath when the Germs go past.

Which is excellent advice.

Conversation with George Higgins, who tells tale of youthful San Juan Capistrano adventures during our recent there's that word again—flood.

Everyone in the mission town, George says, wasn't depressed during the deluge, when the village was cut off from all communication.

Three boys in town formed a company, with Bob Cook as president, Bill Quackenbush, treasurer, and Jack Nelson, stooge. They went into the ferry business at the McKinley avenue crossing over San Juan creek, using an old stretcher as their means of transportation.

On their new-type ferry they carried crates of eggs, newspapers, a lamb for the meat market, lard, bread and even four human beings. The trouble with the business venture was that eventually Gail's van cut-off was opened to traffic, and an eager public no longer yammered for transportation across high waters. So, after counting their profits, the trio invested their entire nest-egg in ice cream, which soon melted away. Just like many larger investments have done.

Good story, too, from San Clemente.

About two Mexicans, lodged in the city jail because they were aliens, or something.

Seems the visitors were cold, so a gas stove was lighted.

They still were cold, so closed all the windows. And, when you close windows in the San Clemente jail, they stay closed. And don't let in any air.

So, after awhile, there wasn't any oxygen left. And the visitors got tired of breathing nothing but gas and passed out.

Which, anyone will admit, was a sad state of affairs. But not fatal, as we shall see.

Dr. Laverly, Clemente physician, was called. Things looked pretty bad, so he ordered some methylene blue, which is good for guys in a fix like that.

It was a good idea, only there wasn't any methylene blue. So Officer Peterkin, state highwayman, hopped on his motorbike in Santa Ana and started out for the Spanish Village with the very necessary stuff.

He went 32 miles. And he did that 32 miles in 30 minutes—not in an airplane, either. He was in a hurry.

After application of the medicine, both visitors again took an interest in the proceedings. They're well now, and probably on their way back to Mexico.

But I never did find out if they got warm!

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. KOBB

Santa Ana Club No. 10 sponsored a very successful Townsend mass meeting in the local Townsend headquarters, Saturday night. According to Mrs. Edith L. Paul, president, there was a large crowd present including approximately 50 new recruits. The National Youth Administration band gave a concert outside the hall directed by T. Durstan Collins.

Inside the Hurd-Lentz orchestra played and a violin solo was offered by Richard Miles. Mrs. Paul, who was in charge of the meeting expressed the club's appreciation to all the musicians. Col. Ralph D. Horton spoke and brought a message dealing with the fundamentals of the Townsend Plan and touched on the new Townsend party idea.

Tonight is the night Santa Ana Club No. 2 is supposed to meet in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street. No particulars were given. The members of this club who take The Journal should insist that this column be given particulars of their meetings in time for publication. A post-card or letter addressed to E. O. At 6:30, preceding the meeting, a pot-luck dinner will be served. Bring your own table service and food. Many will remember Ted E. Felt as a former Townsend state area manager for the 12th and 19th districts.

When a Townsend club puts on a pot-luck dinner it's always safe to bet it will be a good one. It's not strange that Cupid more than once at Townsend club pot-luck dinners has shot his arrow true to the mark. No wonder The Journal recently had the opportunity of chronicling a story of wedding vows under the title "Townsend Goes Cupid." Up in La Habra at 6:30 o'clock tonight in the Masonic hall there will be another pot-luck dinner opportunity for Cupid to shoot his arrow. According to Rev. E. M. Sutton there will be a Townsend meeting at 7:30 following the dinner.

Santa Ana Club No. 5 is meeting at 7:30 tomorrow night in the Richmond Methodist church at South Parton and Richmond streets according to W. T. Miller, 9201/2 South Parton street. Doughnuts and coffee will be served following the dinner. Mrs. Miller, who injured her feet, is making rapid recovery. The writer recently called on Mr. and Mrs. W. A. PLENTY AT RACES

It happened at Santa Anita Saturday, following the seventh race when long-shot Sir Gay came in and paid $27.60 to win, $10.40 to place, $4.80 to show.

A well-dressed man—all smiles—took his fair companion by the arm, and headed for the cashier's window. Before taking more than four or five steps, he glanced down at the pari-mutuel ticket held by his companion.

"What have you done?" he shouted, placing both hands over his head and coming down hard, smashing his own hat. "I told you to play that horse to win—not to place."

"I didn't think the horse would win," explained said fair companion, which must have been his wife because no man could talk to a prospective bride that way without breaking an engagement.

EX-SANTA ANA FIGHT PROMOTER AMBITIOUS
Genial George Stewart, Ontario Legionnaire who made a success of his home-town arena, but failed to revive fights at the Highway 101 club, has other irons in the fire.

George has been granted permission by the city council to erect a 2000-seat stadium in San Bernardino at a cost of $25,000. He will continue in his capacity as matchmaker at Ontario—perhaps even after California prep opens in San Bernardino around June 1.

Meanwhile, New-Promoter Bud Levin at the Orange County Athletic club, securing both a boxing and wrestling license, is determined to bring back the fight-cuffs—amateur or professional—to his Highway 101 battle box within the next few weeks. Levin believes the right kind of show will click here, and he doesn't plan to open until he finds the right talent.

BILL HUNTALAS MAY ERASE GUYER'S MARK

Provided his leg muscle, pulled in an informal meet with Newport Harbor last week, responds to treatment, Santa Ana Jaycee's Bill Huntalas, Southern California prep champion in the 100-yard dash, may set a record or two with the Dons this year.

For 10 years the 100 and 220-yard dash marks established by Maurice (Red) Guyer, present Laguna Beach High school coach, have graced the Don record books. The raven-haired Huntalas is pointing for both records—9.8 secs. in the century, 22.1 secs. in the furlong.

MAJOR ANDERSON IN
220-YARD LOW STICKS

Major Anderson, whose sprinting won many points for the Dons in '35 and '36, is branching out as a San Diego State cinder artist.

In addition to running the sprints for the Aztecs this year, the Santa Ana boy will compete in the 220-yard low hurdles—and he should develop into a good timber-topper, too. He had some hurdling experience with the Dons.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—With Burgess Whitehead still abed with appendicitis, Lou Blizozza is the only New York Giant member doing full nine-inning work in the training camp exhibitions. Except for the second base job, on which Lou is filling in for Whitey, every position has a first and second team man on hand.

CATALINA ISLAND. (AP)—Phil Cavaretta, who's trying to take Ripper Collins' first-base job on the Chicago Cubs, gets the call on that bag in the Cub Grapefruit opener against the White Sox Friday. Manager Cholly Grimm is still working on the outfield line-up.

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The strong, silent man pulls into the Detroit Tiger camp today. Of course, he's Charley Gehring, who took a few extra days of fishing around Miami before getting down to the business of "fighting" for his second base job. Manager Mickey Cofrane scheduled two workouts for today.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns wonder who's going to be their first-string catcher this season. Hold-out Billy Sullivan left town, saying he was through with baseball unless the Browns met his $10,000 salary demand. He was offered $8000.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The New York Yankees got ready today to entertain the boss. Col. Jake Ruppert is on his way from New York for what will be the last act of the Yanks' annual hold-out comedy—the signing of Joe DiMaggio.

By PAUL WRIGHT

Tickets went on sale throughout Orange county today for the Orange County Athletic club's Flood Relief wrestling show sponsored by the American Legion, Santa Ana Post 131, at the Highway 101 arena Thursday night.

Charity show tickets may be purchased from any Legionnaire, or at A. G. Flagg's, 114 North Broadway; Weber's cigar stand, 116 East Fourth street.

Promoter Melvin J. (Bud) Levin has arranged a five-bout program, offering one match more than usual, and his wrestlers are donating their services.

With no increase in admission, American Legion officials expect the show to raise more than $500 for Orange county flood sufferers.

Featuring the charity show will be a sizzling rematch between Ernie Piluso and Marshall Carter, who struggled to a torrid 45-minute draw at the house of horrors last Thursday.

"Wild Red" Berry, one of the roughest villains ever to set foot on the 101 club's mat, will return for a 45-minute go with "Tarzan" Bob Montgomery in a semi-windup billed for two out of three falls. The Piluso-Carter bout also will be "two out of three."

In the preliminaries will appear Smiling Steve Strelch against Frankie Hill, Al Wescott against Abe Freeman and Larry Tillman of Garden Grove against Tommy Ward.

The majors' biggest talent raid centered on the American association this year.

This Class double-A finishing school of the diamond was ransacked down pennant-winner to cellar team for likely-looking youngsters. More than 30 made the jump to the training camps of the major league clubs.

A dozen or more seem very likely to stick.

The St. Louis Cardinals, with eyes cocked on the National league flag, may use a trio they grabbed from Columbus, Outfielder Country Slaughter, Pitcher Max Macon and Third-Baseman Ott Stein.

Frankie Frisch, skipper of the Gas House Gang, confesses he was dazzled by the batting average conjured by the stocky Slaughter—a cool .382. He hopes to rearrange his outfield pattern to use him alongside that other well-known clubber, Ducky Wucky Medwick.

And with Dizzy Dean at least a trifle uncertain, the Cardinal pilot believes a southpaw flinger who won 21 games, like Macon, is good insurance. Stein may help unjam Frisch's infield problem.

The Cards also will hury in a pair of John Leonard's this spring, J. L. (Pepper) Martin, and J. L. Hopp, a fancy flycatcher from Rochester.

The Pirates dipped into the Columbus collection and came up with Outfielder Johnny Riddle from Indianapolis. Brooklyn's Pitchers Schoolboy Cohen, Toledo, and Forest Pressnell, Milwaukee; Outfielder Rosey Rosen, Louisville; Chicago Cub's Pitchers Newel Kimball, Milwaukee and Bob Logan, Indianapolis. Philadelphia Phillies: Catcher Cap Clark, Columbus; Infielder Rabbit Morehouse, Rochester.

St. Louis Cardinals: Pitcher Spud Krist, Rochester; Infielder Skeeter Webb, Columbus. Boston Red Sox: Outfielder Fabian Gaffke, Pitchers Jim Henry and Tom Wagner, and Catcher John Peacock of Minneapolis. Chicago White Sox: Pitcher Don Cox and Infielder rookie, Ken Keltner, may be what the doctor ordered. Just turned 21, Weltner batted .310 last year and demonstrated ability to cover ground.

A free agent, Harry Eisental, who played with Louisville in 1937, and Pat McLaughlin, from Indianapolis, are a couple of tossers who may see service with Detroit. Tigerman Mickey Cochran also likes Outfielder Roy Cullenbine of Toledo.

Lee Stine, pitcher of Kansas City, who has made several stop-offs in the majors, will get another chance with the Yankees, along with another K. C. product, Joe Vance, who twirled a bit for Joe McCarthy late last campaign.

Other recruits include: Boston Bees: Infielder Bob Kahle and Catcher Johnny Riddle from Indianapolis. Motograph

When your car's motor starts sputtering, chances are you won't know whether it's because of too rich a mixture or a faulty ignition. And you may not take the garageman's word for it. But Dewey Paxton, inventor and head technician of Santa Ana's newest industry, doesn't even have to see the car to tell you just what's wrong.

And he can convince you, too—by merely showing you some hieroglyphics mechanically scrawled on a roll of paper. It's done with a Motograph, which you probably haven't heard much about, since it's only been under production for six weeks.

The Motograph is a simple gadget, consists of four dial controls, a rubber tube, two wires and a sensitive diaphragm that makes a mechanical pen wiggle back and forth as it draws a tell-tale chart on a paper roll like that used in an adding machine.

Used for diagnosing any motor trouble, the Motograph's patent, which will become final within the next year, will protect its one distinctive feature: Graphically putting down the exact trouble on paper.

Paxton invented the machine three years ago, since has spent all his time testing it on every conceivable type of car in a big Los Angeles garage. The Motograph now is being manufactured and promoted by Paxton and his cousin, Hale Paxton of the food machinery corporation here.

The Motograph invention was no sudden brainstorm. It came along after long years of mechanical work, follows the essential principle that any badly functioning part of a motor's mechanical workings will either let in too much air or retard the normal air flow.

A good motor shows up on the graph, then, as a perfectly straight line, while a leaky or clogged-up valve will make the line waver one way or the other.

The ignition test just "followed automatically," Paxton explains. It shows up combustion troubles about the same way the vacuum tube shows up mechanical ailments, thus completes the diagnosis of a motor.

A simple electrical connection that can be hooked to the ignition or any of the plugs, the ignition test control is calibrated to give efficiency in percentages. If it works in 100 per cent order, the Motograph spark will scorch tiny holes in the paper roll when the control is placed at 100. If it won't spark at 100 (which is a maximum air gap), the control is moved gradually toward zero until it will, thus shows in percentages how strong the spark is.

Controls on the tricky testing device either speed up the paper roll, which is mounted on an oil-fashioned phonograph mechanism, or widen the back-and-forth cycles of the writing pin. Idea of this

MENTON SLATED TO CONDUCT
PROSECUTIONNo Basis for Special
Prosecutor Report

By FRANK ORR

N. E. West (whose press clippings have dropped just awfully during the past few weeks) became the subject of another court-house rumor last week.

The story is that West's ouster trial will be conducted by a special prosecutor from the attorney-general's office. There's nothing to it.

The rumor started going around when Dist. Atty. Bill Menton made a trip to San Francisco and Sacramento. The trip, the story went, was to arrange for a special prosecutor. It wasn't.

Nothing "haywire" Maybe there have been too many Thomas Dewey stories in the magazines, but special prosecutors don't get called in unless there is something terribly haywire with the regular prosecuting force, or unless the district attorney is disqualified.

Menton, despite the stabs he's had from West, has not disqualified himself in the supervisor's case and doesn't intend to. The district attorney has a lot of patience—some say he has too much—and West hasn't dug under his skin, partly because West is cheerful about it all and doesn't scowl when he takes pokes at people. His enjoyment of such situations is not always contagious, but it makes him less sinister.

MENTON ON JOB But without a disqualification of Menton, there could be no special prosecutor. Menton is not and will not be disqualified, and probably he and Preston Turner, his assistant, will conduct the prosecution.

West's trial is set for the twenty-eighth, and seats will be scarce, they say.

Selection of Judge L. N. Turrentine of San Diego to hear the West trial meets with approval of both prosecution and defense.

Judge Ames, who disqualified himself, is being commended for picking a jurist from something of a distance, and from another congressional district.

SENSE OF HUMOR The story was at first that Judge Benjamin Warner of San Bernardino, who heard the Eden oil case, would get the assignment. Other judges from these parts, including Riverside and San Bernardino counties, were mentioned.

but the feeling on both sides was that a judge from outside the district where West campaigned for congress might be better.

Judge Turrentine has a sense of humor, too. Judge Ames dictated a letter to him the other day—a bulky thing which was put in the mail with only 3 cents postage.

Couple of days later, the letter to Turrentine came back. It was marked "refused."

controlling is to accentuate specific faults when the motor is being tested for certain defects.

Here are some of the motor troubles the Motograph will write down: Intake valve leak, exhaust valve leak, ring leaks, valve sticking, periodical leaks in vacuum cycle, too rich or too thin a mixture, can shaft out of time, spark plugs set too close, defective fuel pump, burnt out heat riser, faulty hook-up of ignition coil. It shows each trouble in degrees from very slight leaks to bad ones, what's more, and it can be controlled to single out just which cylinder is giving trouble.

Community Players
Crash Big Time
With 1-Act Skit

The Santa Ana Community Players' annual one-act play writing contest had crashed professional dramatic circles today with the sale of the third play presented in last Thursday's finale by John G. Whidding, Los Angeles entry.

Whidding sold his one-act production, "Her Royal Harness," to the Walter H. Baker company, he revealed. It is the second time a play entered in the annual contest here has been sold. "Ho Kritis," by Val Clark, having been published by Samuel French following the first contest six years ago.

A member of "The Mad Hatters," Los Angeles players' group, Whidding is the first person outside of Orange county to enter the local contest. He has had several of his plays produced by "The Mad Hatters," but this is the first which has been produced by any other organization and the first he has sold for professional production.

DR. JOHN BOWER
WARNS PUBLIC
OF CHEAP MEAT

It makes little difference to the United States bureau of animal industry as to how much tripe and tallow you eat in cheap hamburger these days. The only time this department draws the line is when the meat is decomposed.

Combinations in such inferior hamburger are described by Dr. John Bower, county livestock inspector, as being highly detrimental to the health of those eating it.

He points out that Orange county inspectors have found hamburger being sold over the counter containing as much as 70 per cent beef tallow mixed in with ground pig snouts, ears, cheeks, beef scraps, beef lungs, hearts, kidneys, blood, tripe, etc.

Dr. Bower explains that meat inspectors are powerless in curbing the sale of such combinations, for the bureau of animal industry considers the ingredients as fit for human consumption. The line can be drawn only when the meat is found to be rotten.

Cheap hamburger is often detectable by its pale color, although blood is sometimes added to brighten it up, Bower says.

"The bureau of animal industry defines hamburgers as comminuted beef with or without the addition of meat, and, therefore, chopped beef, lungs, hearts, kidneys, cheeks and tallow are all considered as beef," according to Dr. Bower.

"It is true that these organs may have high vitamin content and food value," he continued, "but when blended with a large percentage of tallow, the mixture can be detrimental to health."

"Frying of either this cheap hamburger or sausage will definitely prove to you that large quantities of hog fat, beef and mutton tallow are being used as a filler. For after it has been cooked, a very small amount of actual meat remains in the frying pan as compared to the fat."

He relates good meat may be used in hamburger as well as bad.

SANTA ANA MAN
TELLS OF JAPAN
AIR RAID FEAR

Fred H. Hermon of Santa Ana, who returned this week from a 50,000 mile world tour, reports that Japanese residents are constantly in fear of a devastating air attack from China.

So fearful were the people of Chinese raids, Hermon said the police ordered streetcars, taxis and automobiles to travel through the large cities with their lights off at night time. Scores of persons were killed each evening in resultant auto accidents.

Street lights were ordered out and businesses were conducted in Japanese skyscrapers behind heavy curtains covering all windows. To continue the Japanese citizens' belief that their country is entirely in the right in the war against China, the government, through propaganda, constantly pours forth stories of atrocious atrocities committed against Japanese women and children by the Chinese, he said.

Automobile highways in and around the large cities of Japan are in excellent condition; this is not so, however, of the roads into rural sections. Hermon told of travelling 900 miles out of Yokohama by automobile. In many cases there was no road to follow and the trip consumed six days, driving 15 hours daily. Three tires were blown on the journey. Japanese police subjected Hermon's baggage to a thorough check up daily.

After leaving Japan, Hermon visited Shanghai. He was warned before leaving the boat not to drink or eat anything while ashore. Hermon found the metropolis overrun by Chinese refugees with cholera and other diseases spreading rapidly among them.

Edw. Arnold And Fay Wray in 'The Boss'

By TOM E. DANSON

The Lux Radio Theater tonight co-stars Edward Arnold and Fay Wray in another famous Edward Sheldon play, "The Boss."

"The Boss" is the third Edward Sheldon play Cecil B. DeMille has directed this season on the broadcast over the KNX-Columbia network at 6 p. m. Previously heard: "The Song of Songs" and "Romance."

In "The Boss," Edward Arnold plays the title role which made him one of the most famous actors of the decade. Mike Regan, played by Arnold, overcomes countless obstacles in early life to build himself ruthlessly into a mid-western grain king and political "boss."

COLORFUL MUSIC BY KYSER

Be-speckled Kay Kyser, the one-time collegiate bookworm who wanted to be a lawyer but became a musician because he could make more money, brings his orchestra to KVOE listeners tonight at 9:45 o'clock.

Besides the colorful dance music which has won praise from swing devotees of the nation, Kyser will present a number from the background of the orchestral accompaniment.

The blond student who turned from his studies of Blackstone to those of the score sheet has one burning hobby—his love of southern tunes.

GRACIE PLAYS "MISS WELLS FARGO"

Gracie Allen fulfills a long-time ambition to be a dramatic actress when she appears with George Burns tonight in an original sketch, "Miss Wells Fargo." Just how dramatic the sketch will be is something else again, but details of the sketch will be given in the KFI-NBC network at 7:30.

George Burns, who goes through a similar experience every week but bears up remarkably well, will appear as "Mr. Wells Fargo." Supporting roles will be taken by Tom Martin, Announcer John Conti and Orchestra Leader Ray Noble.

Public response to Tommy Tucker's "Musical Mystics" program has been growing rapidly. The bases on musical answers to questions received by Tucker through the mail. The band leader reads the query over the air, (from KEHE) squints into the crystal ball, and then the orchestra plays a popular tune, the title of which is the answer to the question.

"I am employed as a maid. Yesterday, while dusting, I broke a Ming vase. What should I do, Mr. Tucker?" is a typical inquiry. The Musical Mystics answered with "Whistle While You Work."

The story of how an innocent person became implicated in diamond smuggling will be told by Warden Lewis E. Lawes, of Sing Sing, during his Behind Prison Bars program tonight from 7:00 to 7:30 over the KECA-NBC-Blue Network.

The story will be dramatized in answer to a question from a listener in New York concerning the practice of smuggling by wealthy people to "beat" the customs. The dramatization relates how a gang of gem smugglers used an unsuspecting traveler to land stolen diamonds.

Frank Parker, third ranking national tennis player, and a member of the U. S. Davis Cup team, will be interviewed by John Canady on the "Sportsman" program over KMPC tonight at 9:45 o'clock.

If you have a secret hankering to build yourself a model airplane and don't actually know how to go about it, you can get a good idea from the special broadcast over KMTB tonight at 6:15 when Hal H. Atkins, famous model airplane builder, in his spare time builds planes for the film studios, will be the Junior Birdmen's guest of honor.

New ideas for April foolery will be demonstrated by Pick and Pat, blackface comedians on the broadcast of "Pipe Smoking Time" over the KNX-Columbia network tonight from 8:30 to 9:00. Solos in the semi-classic vein are to be sung by Edward Roecker, baritone, Benny Krueger and his orchestra will provide the "swing" tempo.

Fire Chief Ralph E. Thompson and his home city, Stockton, California, will receive the salutes of the "Third Alarm" program during the broadcast by the KVOE-Don Lee Network tomorrow afternoon at 1:30.

A word picture and description of the launching of the new submarine "Sturgeon" at Mare Island navy yard will be a special feature of KVOE's schedule tomorrow afternoon at 12:15. The KVOE-Journal news broadcast, regularly scheduled at 12:30, will be heard tomorrow only at 12:45.

The tenth in the series of Elks' Safety Campaign programs, urging more careful driving and attempting to decrease the number of traffic fatalities in the nation, will be heard on KVOE tonight at 7 o'clock. A local speaker will augment the address by Grand Exalted Ruler Charles Spencer Hart.

"SILVER DOLLAR" TABOR...
It took just 17 dollars for Horace Austin Warner (Haw) Tabor to buy the name that made him famous - "Silver Dollar" Tabor. That original investment got him, besides a nickname, a tidy fortune estimated to have totaled at one time $10,000,000.

Haw Tabor was a stonecutter in the great quarries of Vermont as a boy. In 1855, when 26 years old, Tabor went West. He joined the Kansas Freesoil party and became a member of the state legislature for a term.

Tabor returned to Maine and married Augusta Pierce, whom he took back to the Kansas prairies with him to seek a fortune. By 1859 he had not found one, so the Tabor headed farther west into Colorado, where tales of rich gold mines were common talk.

Haw Tabor settled in California Gulch and in 1865 became the postmaster of the small mining town. He also opened a general store. One day two German prospectors, George F. Hook and August Riche, walked into Tabor's store, broke and hungry.

Tabor "grubstaked" the two men, giving them enough provisions to last a few weeks. The bill came to 17 dollars. Hook and Riche promised to cut Tabor in for a third interest in whatever they found in the way of ore.

A German steamship loaded 3500 bales of cotton at San Diego recently and 5000 more will be shipped this month.

Half a Billion In Oil

Governor Merriam's bill to protect the state's interest in Southern California tideland oil fields, including Huntington Beach, was handicapped at the start by his failure to make it public in time to permit study and analysis by legislators and the public.

Time may show that its hasty passage by the legislature was unwise.

The public knows that a powerful corporation lobby has opposed all legislation to give the state adequate royalties from the oil underlying Southern California beaches, into which the big companies have sunk their wells by slant drilling from the shore.

The Olson act, directed to that end and signed by the governor, has been held up until November by a referendum financed by the corporation.

Their attempt to keep royalties down to an absurdly low level has been a scandal involving the use of high-pressure lobbyists and the waging of a phony "save-the-beaches" initiative campaign at the 1936 election.

With this background, there was every reason for Mr. Merriam to put his bill before the public in ample time for thorough study and discussion. And legislators at Sacramento were fully justified in scrutinizing it with more than ordinary care.

As The Sacramento Bee points out, we are not dealing here with chicken feed. The Huntington Beach pool has been conservatively appraised at $300,000,000, and now rich deposits have been proved under the Long Beach and Wilmington beaches.

Here is a great natural resource, the income from which might be made to pay the costs of, say, the University of California, or to relieve taxpayers substantially in other directions.

Unless the legislature was fully convinced that Merriam's bill gave the state a better deal than the Olson law, it should have refused to act, leaving the decision to the people at the November election.

Courtroom Drama

Occasionally some person arises to remark that America makes a circus of its murder trials, that the intense public interest defeats the course of justice, such as in the Wright "white-flash" murder.

Those who think our system is bad should take a look at Russia. With the Communists, trials for conspiracy and murder are frankly handled as plays, with stage managers, timed speeches and microphones broadcasting the Stalinist propaganda to Stalin's shackled people.

Defendants who have no possible chance of acquittal take the stand and compete with each other to see which can make the most damning confession. The world still wonders how these confessions are obtained.

The trials are 100 per cent against the principles of justice as we know it in America.

If those who object to our system of giving each accused person a fighting chance were to make a real study of these Russian farces they would decide that our democratic application of justice isn't so bad after all, even if the results aren't always the best.

River Menace Still With Us

Week-end weather and rising waters of the Santa Ana demonstrate that Orange county is by no means past the danger of even more high water.

Levees are broken in a score of places. River channels are silted up. Canyons are stripped of their flood protection. The ground is thoroughly soaked.

Because of these factors, the stream is in no condition to carry off half as much water as it did last time.

The broad coastal plain to the northwest of the river is as defenseless against the weather as Austria was against Hitler's legions.

Until Prado dam and the other barriers included in Orange county's flood control program are built, the flood menace will continue to endanger lives and property of our neighbors.

One Secret of Life

"Life after a century is still worth living," declares Mrs. Catherine Snow of Seattle. She is an authority on the subject, because she soon will be 102 years old.

Mrs. Snow unconsciously reveals the reason why she finds her sunset days worth while when she tells of the interest she takes in world and city affairs.

Life, to her, is worth living because she takes an interest in it, keeping her mind active and busy. On the other hand, life after even 22, instead of 102, isn't worth living if the mind is allowed to become sluggish.

Once a human ceases to use his mind as an independent agent for himself, he doesn't live any more—he just vegetates.

Nation's Greatest Dilemma

A statement from the American Automobile association tells us that a committee has been named to study ways and means of solving the parking problem, which is referred to as "the nation's greatest dilemma."

We can testify from experience that the fellow who can't find a place to park needs help, and we hope the committee will provide it. But isn't it going a bit strong to call his dilemma the greatest?

How about the dilemma of the fellow who can't find a place to work?

One difference between the professional and amateur criminal is that the amateur doesn't know how to get a parole.

Paul Wright
Case

LOS ANGELES.—Last Nov. 9 Paul Wright assertedly shot and killed his wife and a man described as his best friend as they reportedly embraced in the drawing room of Mr. Wright's home. Mr. Wright reportedly had been drinking and allegedly had fallen asleep in another room. Reportedly, however, he awakened, and on re-entering the drawing room was so shocked by the asserted spectacle that describedly he quickly seized his reported gun and while blinded by a reputed white flame executed capital punishment on the stately erring twain. The it-said slayer was arrested and tried three times, but won his freedom by the best two out of three decisions in the Los Angeles court and believed is now seeking to rehabilitate himself in society.

Suspectingly, among the newspaper craft in the southern zone of California and to a less extent elsewhere throughout the days, it is a release from responsibility for libel or error in journalism to qualify assertions or suggestions of alleged fact with such forms as "assertedly" and "reportedly," and these strange growths are now tolerated in legitimate newspapers.

OLD-FASHIONED WORD

Supposedly this is a revival and an explanation of the old-fashioned and generally discarded journalistic use of the word "allegedly" as a first escape from responsibility, and on being tested in court the whole vocabulary of new immunities may crash expensively as "allegedly" did some years ago. However, it is thoughtfully, or thoughtlessly, libel proof to date, and your correspondent is conducting this experiment on an assumedly open and shut case, high public officials believe.

Mr. Wright's defense was twofold. He was not guilty because he did not do the asserted killing and not guilty because he was allegedly insane when he did that which he did not do. In the first trial the jury rejected his contention of innocence and found him guilty of manslaughter. But in the second trial the same citizens believed his story of the described flame and vindicated him on the ground of insanity.

A THIRD PERFORMANCE

There followed then a third performance or trial to determine whether this insanity was temporary or lingering, and the verdict was that the purported white flame was but the matter of an instant. He was crazy only for the duration of the presumed two homicides, and a week ago a Los Angeles paper chronicled his release—with a prayer in his heart, while sabbath bells tolled the tragic fate of his gaunt face was the terrific ordeal he had passed through. So thankful that he could hardly talk, after almost three months of confinement, he had only this to say: "I want the world to forget me."

Owing to an unfortunate omission or lack of space, there was no mention of the grim, gray walls or any intimation of stark tragedy—a plain case of stark measure on the part of the paper.

THE BLACK FLAME

The citizens of Los Angeles are understanding and tolerant, however, and will forgive the omission as they forgive Mr. Wright and doubtless will forgive, at a future date, and unhappy negro who allegedly shot and killed two law officers who went to his little cabin to dispossess and evict him for purported default of his alleged payments.

The negro rumoredly was so frantic at the thought of losing his family's little shelter that he fetched his contended gun and describedly fired, and there is naturally great sympathy for him, although, in the absence of the sex element, he may have a more difficult time with a Los Angeles jury.

The defense in this case, it is hoped, will introduce a distinct scientific novelty—the black flame—and on a date not far in the future the newspapers predicted will repeat that to understand is to forgive, and report that while sabbath bells tolled the faithful to worship the black flame slayer walked out of the county jail a free man, police believe.

CASES VS. CIRCUMSTANCES

In his early days as a lawyer, Abraham Lincoln had a hard struggle to keep his head above water, but he took his difficulties with good humor.

On one occasion he remarked, "Circumstances alter cases, but I wish I could get hold of some cases that would alter my circumstances."—Edinburgh Dispatch.

Lawyer—Well, can you raise money on that? Now let's see—just what do they accuse you of stealing? Rastus—A 1922 Ford car.

Durin' the recent storm out here, when I saw the water backin' up and risin' in my basement, I got panicky and called every plumbin' shop in town and told 'em to bring a pump, but I was told they could not get through.

Finally in desperation I called good old Paramount. I said "They won't let me down."

They said, "We heard you were getting flooded and thought we'd take some publicity pictures." And there I was without a bit of dry ammunition in the house.

U. S. Claim to Pacific Islands Is O. K. By British; Just Good Teamwork

WASHINGTON.—When President Roosevelt hoisted the stars and stripes over the Canton and Enderby islands in the mid-Pacific, most newspaper dispatches predicted a diplomatic battle with the British.

Inside fact, however, is that the British had been notified in advance and were acquiescent. While they have not yet given a formal "o. k." to American sovereignty, American use of the islands is in line with the general plan of closer Anglo-American cooperation in the Pacific.

The islands are important not only as stepping-stones along the air route to Australia, but as a junction where sky-lines of the future will turn off for Singapore, the giant British naval outpost in the Far East.

Note—Significant of the importance of the Pacific islands is the fact that the navy began laying in extra supplies of fuel in Samoa several months ago. Also Dr. Ernest Gruening, director of insular affairs of the interior department recently took a five months' cruise among the islands.

IN TENDER HANDS

At the Washington banquet of the Kansas society popular Senator Arthur Capper regaled the crowd with a story about his operation.

Just before they put me under the ether," Capper related, "the doctors went into a huddle. They seemed to be very concerned about something and I got a bit uneasy. Finally, the surgeon who was to do the operating came over and said, 'We're ready to start.'"

"I said I was all set, too, but before he began I wanted to remind him that there were only 16 Republicans left in the senate and that he should exercise his greatest skill and care. 'Doctor,' I said, 'you know if anything should happen to me today, it is a Democratic loss.'"

"His reply to me was, 'Senator, have no fears, I fully understand your feelings in this matter. I come from a long line of Republicans myself.'"

TVA 'PROBE'

Although the odds favor a TVA probe, it is by no means a certainty.

Actually there is a lot more noise on Capitol hill than real demand for an investigation. The hullabaloo is coming entirely from a small group of administration-haters and TVA foes.

Most of the rank-and-file in congress are completely indifferent, while the President and the Democratic floor leaders are definitely opposed to an investigation. All the uproar, they claim, is being pumped up by utility interests which have failed to stop the TVA in the courts and now are trying to cripple it with an investigation.

This is Senator George Norris' opinion also. He considers a probe unnecessary, but offered his resolution for a federal trade commission airing because he figured the big power companies would get scared. And they were—until the fulminating outbreaks from Chairman Arthur E. Morgan and the demand of his two colleagues that he resign revived the dying embers. Now there is a good

What Other Editors Say

MANY REFUSED TO HEED FLOOD WARNINGS

There have been numerous questions asked as to why no greater warning was given to residents in the threatened areas. The break in the levee at Atwood caught many people in bed. It looked as though a careful check on the stage of the water above Orange county would have allowed ample time for people to get out.

The fact is that the river was patrolled and warning was given on Wednesday. Too many people believed there was no danger.

N. W. Thompson, county flood control engineer, says he had patrolled along the river up to the county line. For information from further up they depended on Riverside county. At a crucial time on Wednesday the telephone lines went out of business, and it was then too late to arrange other means of direct communication.

Sheriff Logan Jackson had deputies all over the threatened area on Wednesday and Wednesday night.

In the afternoon he was in La Jolla camp and in Atwood personally, trying to get the people to move out. He said that hardly 50 of them could be induced to go. Various private citizens from Anaheim and other places were along the river at the same time. They said that late in the evening it looked as if the water was receding.

The sheriff and police short wave radios were going continuously. City police stations were in touch and heard all messages, which warned the citizens of the lowlands to look out. Still, it appears, not many took advantage of the warning.

While not definitely established, it seems that water backed up at various points in Riverside county, suddenly broke loose and came down the river in a mass. It was sufficient to reach above the top of the levee and cause the first breach which resulted in disaster.—Orange County Watchtower.

THE G. O. P.'S REDS

Mrs. Dilling's notorious book "The Red Network," has turned up the best joke of the week at Lincoln, Neb., where pamphlets were circulated at a Republican meeting at which Dr. Glenn Frank was the principal speaker, accusing him of radicalism because he's listed by Mrs. Dilling among the Reds.

So were Eleanor Roosevelt and our own Bishop Parsons of the Protestant Episcopal church, together with dozens of others whose office was their loyalty to that orthodox brand of Americanism which takes the bill of rights seriously.

To charge Dr. Frank with willingness to take a stand or to offend anyone on either side of the fence is to flatter him. His excess of tact is exactly the reason he was chosen by harassed Republicans to draw them up a program. And having him attacked as a red is tops in funniness.—San Francisco News.

Secret tests of a mysterious anti-aircraft gun are being conducted by foreign officers serving with the Spanish insurgent forces. An ordinary camera viewfinder can be used to illuminate iris on photo enlarger. Illumination for the iris adjustment on the lens of an enlarger can be arranged by mounting a camera view-finder above the lens. Scattered light from inside the enlarger will pass through the viewfinder and will be reflected directly onto the iris ring.

CO-EDS TELL 'EM

1. It certainly is no pleasure for any girl to view masculine shanks framed between wilted socks and trouser cuffs—so wear garters.

2. Shave. Why increase blue Monday with a blue beard?

3. We realize that your mother isn't here to inspect your room and ears, but maybe your roommate will do it for you.

CARNEGIE'S Day—By—Day Philosophy

Millions of people have recently witnessed one of the most outstanding pictures in Hollywood history. That picture was made by the acting of Paul Muni, once known as Muni Weisenfreund.

Paul Muni's rise to fame was no accident; it was not luck, though no doubt an element of luck was interspersed now and then during his climb, as it is with all of us.

Paul Muni fought his way up from the lowest stratum of the drama, through the scoffing of the jealous, by sheer determination of both mind and body, by hard work, and with unquenchable faith in himself. And at all times, he kept his gaze fixed on his chosen star of destiny.

TURNUED DOWN

Muni was turned down on his first chance for a Broadway part because the director couldn't picture him doing the part of an old man. The next time Muni was called before a Broadway producer, again he was discouraged. He looked too young, he walked too young, his personality was too youthful. But this time Muni was prepared for such criticism. And he did his stuff. He pulled out his make-up box, and in a few moments he gave a characterization of an old man that won for him his contract before he left the office.

Paul Muni constitutes a splendid example for achieving success. He dreamed, worked, and watched for opportunities and took advantage of them when they came his way.

WAITS AGAIN

When he went to Hollywood, his struggles began again. After all, the stage is the stage, and the screen is the screen. He was badly miscast and he tore up his contract. But again he watched, waited and worked. The result: "The Life of Emile Zola" is acclaimed as the outstanding talking picture of 1937, and Muni's delineation of Zola, one of the most masterly characterizations in the history of the screen drama.

I was particularly struck by a director's remark on Muni's acting: "Muni gives all that is in him to every characterization to which he is assigned."

Right there was struck the keynote of Muni's success. When he has a task assigned him he gives to it all that is in him.

HUMAN TREATMENT

Warden Brophy of Auburn Prison, New York, told me recently that he could get most out of the prisoners, by appealing to their hearts. He said, "Corporal punishment produces a desire for revenge. Treat a man as a brute and he will act as a brute."

Clerks in leading hotels of the country are trained to read a guest's name upside down as he writes it on the register, and to call him by name. The management realizes the tremendous importance of a man places on his name, and that one of the best ways to make him feel at home is to let him hear the sound of his own name immediately.
